Revised Abilene Spectacular Stallion Incentive Program Rules

Stallion Incentive Program Eligibility & Overview

Offspring sired by a stallion subscribed to the Abilene Spectacular Stallion Incentive Program are eligible to compete for Stallion Incentive bonus money in the applicable eligible classes, subject to program requirements.

Stallions may be subscribed through the donation of a breeding to the Abilene Spectacular Stallion Incentive Auction or through the alternative enrollment option outlined below.

Funds generated through the auction of breedings from subscribed stallions will be allocated toward the Stallion Incentive bonus payouts at the following year's Abilene Spectacular.
Example: Funds collected at the 2025 auction was paid out in 2026.

Payout Structure

The Stallion Incentive guarantees payouts to the top 10 eligible placings in each class. If fewer than 10 eligible horses compete in the finals, additional placings will be determined using cumulative scores from the second go-round, or from the first go-round if necessary. If fewer than 10 eligible horses are entered in a class, any funds allocated to unfilled placings will be distributed equally among the eligible placings.

Junior Stallion Eligibility

If a junior stallion donates a breeding in his first breeding year, his offspring from that breeding season will be eligible for the Stallion Incentive Program as 4 year olds, even if he does not donate in subsequent years.

Example: If stallion "X" donates a breeding in 2025, resulting in foals born in 2026, those foals will be eligible to compete for Stallion Incentive bonus money as a 4 year old in 2030, regardless of whether the stallion participates in the program again after 2025.

Alternative Enrollment Option

Stallion owners who do not donate a breeding to the auction may still enroll their offspring in the Stallion Incentive by paying an amount equal to the stallion's advertised breeding fee into the incentive fund.

This alternative enrollment option allows stallion owners to maintain offspring eligibility without contributing a breeding to the auction.

Unsold Breeding Option

If a donated breeding does not sell at auction, the stallion owner may purchase the breeding back for $600 to maintain eligibility for the stallion's offspring in the Stallion Incentive Program. The buyback must be completed within 7 days of the conclusion of the auction.
